

LONDON DRY

The recipe for this surprising gin was inspired by the flavors and aromas of the classic British style London Dry Gin, but it is elaborate with the character and freshness of the New World.

Its ingredients: hand-picked juniper from the Patagonia, the humid pampas coriander which is found perfectly toasted and fresh citrus peels from the northeastern Argentina that, thanks to its subtropical climate, are harvested in their optimal ripening point, all of them are combined with water pure and crystalline melting of the glaciers of the Cordillera de los Andes.

- Fresh Patagonian juniper.
- Coriander seeds toasted just right.
- Fresh citrus peels from northeastern Argentina.

Fresh natural botanicals are macerated in corn alcohol triple distilled before being distilled again in small German copper stills of 250 liters. The exquisite combination of these botanicals from the different cardinal points from Argentina gives Hilbing London Dry Gin an aroma and flavor delicate and kind.
